Breaking: Just Stop Oil disrupts oil supplies from three key oil terminals

Supporters of Just Stop Oil have disrupted oil supplies from three key oil terminals in support of their demand that the UK government end new oil and gas projects in the UK.

Starting from around 4:40am today, actions took place at the Inter and Navigator Terminals in Essex and the Kingsbury terminal in Warwickshire, severely disrupting terminal operations. [1]

The Warwickshire action involved 7 people entering the Kingsbury terminal, climbing into loading bay pipework and locking on.

In Essex the actions involved roadblocks and “tanker surfing” by groups of Just Stop Oil supporters on major tanker routes to and from the Inter and Navigator terminals including the Stonehouse Corner and Stoneness roundabouts.

It is expected that today’s actions will impact fuel availability at petrol pumps across England. According to recent reports from BEIS supplies of petrol and diesel at filling stations in some areas of the country are running at around half their usual level ahead of the Easter weekend. [2]

Since April 1st when supporters of Just Stop Oil first began blocking oil terminals there have been 965 arrests. The supporters of Just Stop Oil will continue the disruption until the government makes a statement that it will end new oil and gas projects in the UK. [3]

Alex, aged 16 from South London said:

"I'm taking action because I'm terrified of the future for my friends and family. If we do not act with urgency to end our reliance on fossil fuels, climate collapse will be inevitable, and that means we will lose everything. All our certainties, everything we rely on will go. We will be lucky to have enough food to eat. Oil will destroy everything."

Claudia, 24, a student, from Latin America said:

"Ordinary people are the ones who are suffering the most from our fossil fuel dependency and yet they are deliberately kept in the dark about the impending catastrophe and have been fooled into thinking we need more oil and not less or that we can afford to wait out the current crisis. The truth is that there is never a good time to make such a massive change in our way of life, but the sooner the better. We cannot carry on sleepwalking our way to disaster."

Hannah, 23, from Brighton said

"I'm prepared to put my liberty on the line to force the government to stop new oil and gas projects. I won't be a bystander while oil companies cream billions in profits, politicians hypocritically break the rules while cracking down on people who have legitimate reasons to protest and ordinary people are driven into abject poverty and misery. Enough is enough. I will stop when the government stops new oil and gas. Until then the disruption will continue."

The Just Stop Oil Coalition is calling on all of those whose futures are being destroyed, who are facing poverty now, and who are outraged at yet another betrayal by this continuing dependence on oil and gas, to step up and take action. Join our zoom calls at 7pm. It's 2022 and the time to stand by has passed.

[3] About Just Stop Oil

Just Stop Oil is a coalition of groups working together to demand that the government immediately halt all future licensing and consents for the exploration, development and production of fossil fuels in the UK.

We must urgently end our reliance on fossil fuels to avoid irreversible changes in the earth's climate system. We cannot continue to burn fossil fuels in the belief that future developments in carbon capture and storage and other so-called "unicorn technologies" will allow us to suck vast quantities of carbon dioxide from the atmosphere.

The UK must begin this process immediately. It starts by calling a halt to any further fossil fuel projects on the UK Continental Shelf. That would give us eight years of fossil fuel production left in which to rapidly transition to a zero carbon economy.

Everyone knows we have to engage in massive changes. Just Stop Oil is a coalition of groups demanding the no-brainer things be done immediately – actions that will reduce the demand for fossil fuel energy dramatically such as insulating our homes, rethinking how we travel, getting on with renewable energy and making sure no-one is left behind.

We either come together as humanity or we die. Youth know which they choose. They have already chosen. They are in the streets to demand a future. We are all in the streets to make sure they get it. It's as basic as that.

Police have arrested more protestors at oil depots in south Essex as the shortage of fuel in the region continues.

Activists from Just Stop Oil and Extinction Rebellion have been blocking access to oil terminals across the country, demanding that the government stops new oil and gas projects.

But the demonstrations have seen some forecourts run out of fuel.

Government figures have revealed garages in the East of England were only 19% full of petrol at the start of the week and 23% full of diesel.

Before the Covid pandemic, they would usually operate at about 40% full of petrol and 48% full of diesel.

Five Just Stop Oil supporters on remand

Five Just Stop Oil supporters on remand

Five supporters of Just Stop Oil were remanded in custody over the Easter weekend and are due to appear in court this week on charges related to actions at oil terminals in support of the demand that the UK government end new oil and gas projects in the UK.

Kathryn Dowds, 28, Jake Handling, 27, and Joshua Smith, 29, were charged with aggravated trespass after being arrested during an action at Kingsbury on Friday 15 April. They were remanded in custody over the weekend and appeared at Coventry Magistrates' Court this morning, where they pleaded guilty to the charges and were issued with fines ranging between £150 and £349. [1]

On release from Coventry Magistrates court, the three were arrested for breaching a High Court Injunction and are now back in custody. It is thought that they will appear tomorrow at Birmingham County Civic Court or Coventry in connection with this charge.

James Skeet, 34, from Manchester, and Stephanie Aylett, 27, from St Albans, who appeared at Chelmsford magistrates on Saturday charged with aggravated trespass and breach of bail conditions, denied the offence and were remanded into custody at Grays police station to appear before the magistrate this week. They are due to be moved to prison today and will appear by video link at Basildon Magistrates court on Wednesday. [2]

Catherine Maclean, 64 who also appeared on Saturday 16th at Chelmsford pleaded guilty to the charge of aggravated trespass and was ordered to pay a total of £409, including a £270 fine, £105 in court costs and a £34 victim surcharge.

A group of nine Just Stop Oil supporters who appeared at Coventry Magistrates court on Saturday 16th April charged with offences related to actions at the Kingsbury Oil terminal have been released without bail. Six pleaded not guilty, one pleaded guilty and two entered no plea. A case management hearing is due on May 15th. [3]

A spokesperson for Just Stop Oil said:

"The courts are complicit in supporting a government that is knowingly fuelling climate breakdown and will have the death of millions on its hands. Just Stop Oil supporters have acted in line with their consciences. Just as the Suffragettes and the Freedom riders did they have chosen not to be bystanders in the face of the catastrophic and ongoing injustice of climate breakdown.

"They are acting to preserve life, to stop the destruction caused by oil and to support ordinary people whose lives are being made a misery by the cost of living crisis. They have each pledged to do what is nonviolently necessary to make our government stop all new oil and gas projects in the UK."

"Some politicians and media pundits have called Just Stop Oil's demand and its supporters 'naive'. But what is truly naive is the ongoing belief by a political and media establishment that young people will just lay down and die without resisting.

“Supporters of Just Stop Oil of all ages understand that the government that partied through covid lockdowns and is now actively choosing to push millions into poverty and misery is also destroying our future by prioritising drilling for oil over our future food supply, safety and security. Those struggling to get to the end of the week wherever they are, and those in civil resistance for their generation’s future have common cause. Do not believe anyone who tells you otherwise.”

The Just Stop Oil Coalition is calling on all of those whose futures are being destroyed, who are facing poverty now, and who are outraged at yet another betrayal by this continuing dependence on oil and gas, to step up and take action. Join our weekly zoom calls at 7pm. It’s 2022 and the time to stand by has passed.

Shell are climate criminals

April 13, 2022 by Extinction Rebellion

Around 1:30 PM today (Wednesday 13 April) people started glueing themselves to points around Shell's London HQ, including the welcome desk, despite the heavy presence of police officers at the location.

Police are protecting the real criminals.

Credit: Gareth Morris

SHELL ARE CLIMATE CRIMINALS

In 1991, Shell made a documentary called 'Climate of Concern' which outlined the science on fossil fuel emissions and the threat of global warming. The film describes a future in which global consequences, such as climate refugees and all the horrors we are now seeing, come to pass. It describes the need to invest in solar and wind. It talks about responsibility and 'doing the right thing.'

Since then, Shell has taken the opposite course: massive expansion into more and more fossil fuels. 2018-2020 saw 90% of the company's investment going into fossil fuels. A mere 3-5% was put into renewables.

In 2021, Shell was ordered by a court in the Netherlands to cut emissions by 45% by 2030. Shell responded: "we fully expect to appeal today's disappointing decision."

Last year, Shell increased its profits to 19.3 billion dollars, mostly from an increase in gas prices that is now causing a cost of living crisis for ordinary people. The UK government gave them a £90 million tax rebate. 40% of Shell profits are hidden in tax havens.

In recent weeks, Shell has used the war in Ukraine to try to resurrect a project to drill in the Cambo oil field.

And let's not forget that this corporation is responsible for oil spills and human rights abuses around the world. For example, the destruction of the Niger Delta, where a million people live and depend on the land for their survival.

Credit: William Templeton

WHAT HAPPENED TODAY?

Activists have been moving through the Shell building, talking to employees. The group also highlighted XR's TruthTeller campaign, which is here to help people anonymously disclose what they know, big or small, about efforts to cover-up environmental destruction, attempts to prevent positive action on climate change and biodiversity loss and more. The hope is that some Shell employees will take action.

Rebels have just made a heartfelt, direct appeal to 100 Shell executives by holding up placards with their names and calling in them to 'Jump Ship' with a giant green trampoline that said just that.

All the brave Rebels from inside have been arrested. Those sitting outside the Shell HQ, stayed glued and awaited the end of workday to speak to Shell employees, as they travelled home.

The crowd of supporters outside the police cordon was drumming, celebrating and working on outreach to the public.

Credit: Gareth Morris

YOU CAN HAVE A NEW JOB, BUT NOT A NEW PLANET

Dear Shell's employees,

Your company has lost its social licence due to spreading disinformation about climate science, much like the tobacco companies once did about the health risks of smoking

In the words of one of today's speakers: "Is spending more on marketing than on renewables the mark of a company that genuinely wants to change?"

You who work here let this happen. You've been lied to and you are doing the work of a monster.

Don't let it tarnish your CV any longer. Your skills are precious and transferable to the renewable energy industry.

Extinction Rebellion can support you jumping ship.

You can also help from the inside: whistleblow for the planet!

This corporation will not stop its dirty work. But we can stop it. We can choose a livable future. So can you.

Just Stop Oil suspends actions until 25th April

Press / By JSO Press

Two young supporters of Just Stop Oil will deliver a letter to 10 Downing Street this morning. Nathan McGovern, 22, from Coventry and Claudia Penna Rojas, 24, student, from Latin America will read out the letter to the Prime Minister, together with the following statement from Just Stop Oil.

The letter will announce that the Just Stop Oil coalition has taken the decision to suspend activities until 25 April, to give the Prime Minister the opportunity to make a statement on behalf of the Government that it will immediately halt all future licensing and consents for the exploration, development and production of fossil fuels in the UK. [1]

A statement from Just Stop Oil

There are times when faced with a grave injustice or a harmful government, citizens have a right, a duty to break laws to prevent a greater crime being committed. And we can see that harm happening, right now, across the world and in the nations least responsible for the climate crisis.

We know that the course being charted by our government, by many governments, that of continuing to invest in new fossil fuels, has only one outcome, the mass loss of life and unimaginable horror visited on those who survive.

That this has not been well or widely communicated does not make it any less true, if you drop a glass it falls, if you burn carbon you heat the planet, if you destroy nature you lose the basic building blocks for life to flourish.

Right now, in 2022, those of us alive are witnessing the greatest crime ever committed, that of destroying the 'liveable planet' for profit. The scale and recklessness of this endeavor is hard to fathom. Scientist after scientist, report after report has concluded that we must escape the grip of oil, and the first step to finding our way is to stop new oil and gas.

It really is that simple, burn shit, heat the planet, lose all you love. So let's Just Stop Oil.

That's why across the globe, people are now engaging in civil resistance. That is why five Just Stop Oil supporters are currently on remand in prison. The era of protest, marches and petitions is drawing to a close – either we put our bodies in the way of the machine or we accept the loss of our only home.

Notes to Editors

[1] Full text of letter from Just Stop Oil coalition to the Prime Minister

19 April 2022

Dear Prime Minister

The actions taken since 1st April by the Just Stop Oil coalition, and recent polling, have demonstrated that the vast majority of the country back the coalition demand that there should be no new oil and gas. It is supported by scientists, academics, your own Climate Change Committee and the International Energy Agency.

It is also supported by Antonio Guterres, the UN Secretary General, who on 4th April, in launching the latest IPCC report, denounced those countries who continue to invest in new fossil fuel supply projects as “dangerous radicals”. Just three days later your Government published a new energy strategy that does exactly that: committing to maximising the production of North Sea oil and gas. That you have done so while the UK is still President of the COP process, has destroyed your credibility and is marching the world to catastrophe.

Your Government has admitted this will do nothing to help ordinary people pay their bills. The policies that would help people now – support for home insulation and onshore wind – have been axed. While ordinary people struggle with the cost of living crisis driven by high oil and gas prices, the profits and the share price of BP and Shell continue to rise.

The bill for oil and gas is already being paid by millions around the world, in the Global South, and can now also be seen in blood and suffering in Ukraine. The truth is that this is the price we are all going to pay for allowing the grip of oil to continue its hold on us. This cost, the horror of war in Europe, must not be used as a pretext to advance an even greater tragedy – that of continuing to invest in new fossil fuel extraction, for which there is no popular support.

We cannot allow our democracy to be subverted in this way. No one voted for more oil and gas, no one voted to burn their future, no one voted to lose our ‘liveable planet’ and the horror that this will bring. You know that increasing the production of oil and gas at this critical moment will cause mass loss of life and irreversible damage to our country and the wider world (that much is clear even from the Glasgow Climate Pact you signed only last November at the end of COP26). To persist in such an enterprise is not just reckless, it is a criminal war of aggression against humanity, with the younger generations and the Global South on the frontline.

The Just Stop Oil coalition has taken the decision to suspend activities until 25th April, to give you the opportunity to make a statement on behalf of the Government that it will immediately halt all future licensing and consents for the exploration, development and production of fossil fuels in the UK.

If you do not fulfil your duty to the people we will be left with no choice but to escalate our campaign of civil resistance.

We will not be bystanders.

A total of 70 protesters were arrested after large-scale action by climate group Extinction Rebellion yesterday (April 16). A group of activists including two Olympian athletes glued themselves to a Shell tanker before marches descended on Central London.

Extinction Rebellion continued their Central London action today (Easter Sunday), but the action is largely non-disruptive. The Metropolitan Police tweeted this morning: "There are currently no protest related traffic diversions across London.

"70 people were arrested yesterday for offences related to the disruption at Marble Arch. We are working with communities across London throughout the day."

Yesterday's protests followed a week of action from the climate group in London, who are calling for an end to the use of fossil fuels. Activists from the group Don't Stop Oil, a youth-led splinter group from Extinction Rebellion, have led demonstrations at petrol stations and oil terminals as part of the action.

At around 6.33pm yesterday (April 16), the Metropolitan Police announced that it had imposed conditions under Section 14 (1) of the Public Order Act 1986 on Extinction Rebellion protesters to clear the roads after major disruption at Marble Arch.

Activists had blocked major Central London roads by locking themselves to a vehicle in the middle of Marble Arch. They also hung a sign saying 'End Fossil Fuels Now' on the historic Marble Arch monument.

The climate group's week of action is expected to draw to a close today, but Extinction Rebellion plans to protest on at least three more weekends over the coming months - specifically April 23, 24 and 30, and May 1, 7 and 8.
